The Service shall be deemed supplied as of the conclusion date of the Acceptance Sheet. If the CLIENT is absent, the Acceptance Sheet shall be deemed tacitly accepted unless a malfunction of the Service is noted within 24 (twenty-four) hours from the installation of the Terminal Equipment or of the Circuit at the CLIENT Sites.
- 2.6. In case of reconnection of the Service that was suspended for reasons ascribable to the CLIENT, it has the obligation to pay the Connection Fee in the amount provided for in the Agreement. The payment of the amounts owed by the CLIENT to PRIME is a condition precedent for the reconnection of the Service for the CLIENT.
- 2.7. The reconnection of the Services shall be performed by PRIME within maximum 24 (twenty-four) hours from the moment the CLIENT fulfils its obligation to pay all amounts owed to PRIME, namely from the moment the bank account of PRIME is credited with these amounts.

To deactivate the Service at the address of one or several CLIENT Sites provided for in the Agreement and activate it at another address where a CLIENT Site is to be registered, the CLIENT shall notify its intention to PRIME at least 5 (five) days prior to the relocation date, during which period the Parties shall record the addresses of the new CLIENT Sites in an Agreement and PRIME shall ensure, as agreed on with the CLIENT, the relocation and installation of the Terminal Equipment to the new address of the CLIENT Site.

that TT, and the solution shall be communicated to the CLIENT together with the remedy notified in the TT, namely no later than 8 (eight) hours from the registration of the TT.

- 3.3. If the CLIENT cannot use the Service at the guaranteed availability level due to malfunctions caused exclusively by the fault of PRIME, such as malfunctions in the network/system of PRIME, whose remedy rests exclusively with PRIME, the CLIENT is entitled to a compensation agreed on by the parties as a discount to the Monthly Fee related to the following Invoicing Period, in compliance with the discount rates agreed on in the CCS applied according to the availability of the Service in the period when the CLIENT did not benefit from the Service at the guaranteed availability level, as compensations. The discount to the Fee shall be recorded in the invoice related to the Invoicing Period immediately following the unavailability period. Except as provided for above, PRIME shall not be liable for any damages whatsoever, attributed by the CLIENT to the unavailability of the Service.
- 3.4. Following the registration of a TT and of a request to reduce the Fee, PRIME shall analyse the TT to determine whether the cause for the unavailability of the Service was indeed due to the fault of PRIME. If following such an analysis, PRIME determines that the unavailability of the Service is due to its own fault, it shall reduce the Fee for the unavailability period. If following such analysis, PRIME determines that the unavailability of the Service is due to any causes other than its own fault, it shall inform the CLIENT of this fact and of the cause, if it was able to identify it, and it shall not grant any discount to the Fee.
- 3.5. For any complaints other than regarding the Discontinuity or Interruption of the Service, the CLIENT shall notify PRIME in writing within maximum 2 (two) days from the occurrence of the notified event. The notification shall be made in compliance with Art. 10 of CCG. PRIME shall register the complaint upon receiving it. The complaint filed by the CLIENT shall be answered within maximum 30 (thirty) days, term which, in exceptional situations and subject to previously informing the CLIENT, may be extended by another 30 (thirty) days. If following such an analysis PRIME determines that the CLIENT's complaint is grounded, it shall remedy the issue notified and, if it determines that it was due to PRIME's fault, it shall grant compensations to the CLIENT amounting to maximum 5% of the Fee related to the following Invoicing Period. The same compensation shall be granted to the CLIENT if the 30 (thirty)-day term for solving the complaint is exceeded. The solution to the complaint, including the remedies proposed by PRIME shall be communicated to the CLIENT within maximum 30 (thirty) days from receiving the complaint, unless PRIME notified in advance the CLIENT on the extension of the term, for exceptional reasons, by another term of maximum 30 days. The solution given by PRIME to the complaint is final. If the CLIENT is dissatisfied with the answer or if it did not receive an answer within the established term, the CLIENT may refer the issue to ANCOM or to the courts of law.
- 3.6. PRIME may implement traffic measurement and management measures in order to avoid the congestion of the network segments and their use at full capacity. These procedures shall not affect the quality of the Services supplied and shall be published on the Website.

Article 4 – Technical Support

- 4.1. PRIME has a NOC that may be accessed free of charge by the CLIENT to register TT and obtain technical assistance with regard to the functioning of the Service and for any other issues related to the supply of the Service. The CLIENT may access NOC only online, by accessing the Website, Help Desk section, and using the Access Details provided by PRIME on the Contract execution date.
- 4.2. The CLIENT may contact NOC at the contact details indicated in the CCS for each Service.
- 4.3. - 5.6. If the counter value of the Services is expressed in a currency other than RON, PRIME shall invoice the amount in RON at the NBR exchange rate valid on the invoice issuance date, plus VAT.
- 5.7. Failure to receive the invoice shall not exonerate the CLIENT from the obligation to pay the Fees. Since the value of the Service is provided for in the Contract, the CLIENT is aware of, and accepts it by signing this Contract, and the CLIENT may not invoke, in any situation, not knowing the amounts owed, and all elements necessary for the amounts invoiced to be deemed certain, liquid and due shall be presumed recognised. The CLIENT undertakes to pay the invoice within the term agreed on, even if it did not receive the invoice.
- 5.8. The CLIENT may contest the invoice within 10 (ten) days from its issuance date. The term referred to above is a limitation period. Upon the expiry of such period, the invoiced amount shall be deemed irrevocably accepted for payment, and the CLIENT is thus deemed to accept the fact that the amounts owed are certain, liquid and due. The contestation does not suspend the CLIENT's obligation to pay the amounts owed. PRIME shall settle the contestation in accordance with the complaint notification and settlement procedure provided for in Article 3.5 of the CCG and shall settle any negative or positive differences found in the invoice it shall issue for the following Invoicing Period. The Parties irrevocably accept that the records kept in electronic format by PRIME are the only records accepted by the Parties as representing full and conclusive evidence as regards the supply of the Service for which the invoice was issued.
- 5.9. The CLIENT was informed and is aware of any additional charges or commissions charged by third parties for the payment of the invoices owed by it and it undertakes to pay the counter value of the Services, net of any additional charges and commissions that may apply.
- 5.10. If the CLIENT does not fulfil its payment obligations in compliance with the Contract, PRIME may suspend, in full or in part, the CLIENT's access to the Services or it may terminate the Contract; throughout the entire suspension period, the Client will continue to pay the monthly fee for the services. To have the Service reconnected, the CLIENT shall have the obligation to pay the connection fee provided for in the Agreement, the payment of such amount being a condition precedent for the reconnection.

- 5.12. The payments made by the CLIENT shall be first applied on the delay penalties, and then on the Fees. PRIME shall calculate delay penalties of 0.5% per day of delay on the amount of the debt until the actual and full payment thereof. If the CLIENT concluded with PRIME several contracts for the supply of Services, PRIME may apply any payment made by the CLIENT to any due claim resulting from any of these contracts, as it deems appropriate with regard to the order and type of amount owed.

- 6.5. PRIME shall carry out revision, maintenance and repair works for the PRIME communication networks so as to ensure the supply of the Service at optimum functioning parameters. The revision, maintenance and repair works of PRIME's communication networks shall be ensured at its own expense, unless such works are attributable to the CLIENT, in which case it has the obligation to bear the cost of the works. - 6.7. If the repair works are necessary for the Terminal Equipment, and their malfunction was due to reasons ascribable to the CLIENT or to third parties, PRIME will perform the repair works at the full and exclusive cost of the CLIENT and shall conclude the Acceptance Sheet and an estimate specifying the counter value of the repair works performed which shall be included in the following invoice.

Implementing IT security solutions to protect the data in cloud is the Client's obligation. The Client will evaluate and assign the resources it considers compatible with the desired level of security, as well as accompanying solutions (granular access to the Client's employees'/representatives' data so that a supplementary protection stage is ensured, data encryption etc.), to the purpose of protection of its' own business. In case of the CLIENT's failure to pay on time the invoices issued by PRIME under the Contract or under any other contract concluded between the CLIENT and PRIME, PRIME may suspend the Service immediately, without a prior notice or right of compensation for the CLIENT, until the payment of all debts of the CLIENT to PRIME. Throughout this entire suspension period, the Client will continue to pay the monthly fee for the services. If the payment delay is more than 20 (twenty) Days, PRIME may terminate the Contract, without having the obligation to pay any damages to the CLIENT, without fulfilling any prior formality and without the intervention of the courts of law. The CLIENT shall have the obligation to pay the counter value of the due and unpaid invoices and the related penalties, plus the counter value of the prejudice caused to PRIME, to be calculated by multiplying the number of months remaining until the expiry of the current Contractual Term by the Monthly Fee for each Service, as fair compensation to PRIME for the prejudice caused by the CLIENT. If the CLIENT used Terminal Equipment, it shall also have the obligation to pay the uninstallation fee.
- 7.12. The CLIENT undertakes to allow PRIME access to its terminals and equipment in order to verify the compliance by the CLIENT with its contractual obligations. The unjustified refusal to grant PRIME access to the CLIENT's terminals and equipment shall be construed as a tacit admission by the CLIENT of the breach of its contractual obligations. Any change of the location of the terminal equipment for which a location-independent number has been assigned to the client must be notified to Prime 3 days before its operation, considering that when moving the equipment the service becomes technically unavailable, the client being therefore unable to access the unique national system for emergency calls (SNUAU).
- 7.13. When calling the unique national emergency number 112 from the assigned non-geographical number, the CUSTOMER undertakes to communicate to the operator of the address from which the call is initiated.
- 7.14. When Prime Security service is contracted, the license transmitted to the CUSTOMER is without sublease, non-exclusive and non-transferable. The CUSTOMER will not be entitled to:
 - (i) publish, copy (other than permitted backup), rent, lease or otherwise transfer the software;
 - (ii) to use the software as a server software, or for commercial hosting, or to make the software available for simultaneous use by multiple users on a network, or to install the software on a server and to allow users to access it from a distance;
 - (iii) to restore the source program, to disassemble the software product or modules, components or functionalities thereof, or to take steps in this regard.

Resellers of the contracted services will pay this compensation even if the termination occurs during the extended contractual period. The CLIENT declares it was informed, it agrees with and undertakes to pay, not more than 5 (five) days prior to the expiry of the prior notice term related to the unilateral termination, all amounts mentioned above as fair compensation. The fair compensation owed by the CLIENT shall not affect its obligations to pay all the other amounts owed under the Contract and resulting from the performance hereof until the termination of the Contract as provided by this article.

- 8.2.2 By unilateral termination by PRIME with a 120 days prior notice.
 - 8.2.3. The termination shall not become effective if the Party in default remedies the notified situation within the cure term. However, if upon the expiry of the cure term, the Party in default has not fulfilled its obligation, the prejudiced Party shall deem the Contract terminated as of full right on the cure term expiry date.
 - 8.2.6. Upon the expiry of the prior notice period regulated by clause 8.1. of this article.

Either of the two exonerates from liability the Party invoking them in accordance with law.
- 9.2. The Party invoking the exonerating situation shall inform the other Party of its occurrence, within maximum 48 (forty-eight) hours and shall communicate the confirmation issued by the Chamber of Commerce and Industry to this regard, within maximum 5 (five) days from the occurrence of the event.
- 9.3. If the confirmed duration of the event exceeds 10 (ten) days, the Parties shall meet to decide on the conditions to continue or terminate the Contract. If, within 90 Days from its occurrence, the event does not cease, either Party may notify in writing to the other Party the termination of the Contract without having the right to claim damages for such a termination, except for the obligations already due on the date of occurrence of the event.
